EVENING EDITION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA:::::AUGUST 17.

GEORGIA STATE PRESS CONVENTION.—A convention of the newspaper press of the State of Georgia, will be held in Atlanta, on Tuesday, August the 24th, and it is respectfully and urgently desired that every newspaper in the State be represented. The Convention will assemble at eleven o'clock.

RUMOR.—It is stealing through the city, that Governor Bullock is contemplating calling the General Assembly together.

☞ See Fourth Page.

THE BOND.—Are we to have the good bond that Burnett promises for Blodgett? Give us the good bond, Governor Bullock, the GOOD BOND!

Imports and Exports.

The imports into the United States, for the year ending June 30, 1869, were $437,026,541; exports, $413,869,182. The imports were $65,000,000 greater in 1869 than 1868; and the exports $40,000,000 less. Over sixty-seven per cent. of the transportation was done by foreign vessels.

The heaviest export was, $160,258,160 of upland cotton; next, refined petroleum $27,289,835; next, wheat, $24,339,638; next gold coin, $14,853,369, against $44,358,637 in 1868, while $13,341,938 was imported.

The largest import is sugar, $60,809,612; next, coffee, $24,686,1818; next, fruits, $16,552,876; next, dress goods, $16,051,263; then cotton manufactures, $13,986,976; then tea, $13,690,326.

The imports exceeded the exports, $118,922,766. The falling off in exports is due to gold and silver. The merchandise of exports were, $275,187,699 in 1859, to $269,143,000 in 1868.

PRETTY GOOD RECOMMENDATION.—Our Savannah friends, A. A. Solomons & Co. of Savannah, whose advertisement of their fine Bitters will be found in our columns, have received the following high commendation. This tribute certainly endorses all that is claimed for these Bitters, and we take great pleasure in reproducing it in justice to enterprising home merchants, who have made a home article that our home people can patronize as richly worthy of patronage:

I take pleasure in stating that my daughter, aged eighteen years, has been entirely restored to health, after suffering many months from general debility and loss of appetite, by the use of two bottles of SOLOMONS' STRENGTHENING AND INVIGORATING BITTERS, of Savannah, Ga., of which I purchased from you. I take further pleasure in recommending these Bitters to all who are similarly affected.

Very respectfully, yours, etc.,
[Signed,] H. F. RUSSELL,
Mayor of City of Augusta.

The prospects of a fair cotton crop still encouraging; rust not general; confined mostly to guanoed land; caterpillar stripping a few fields, but no serious damage looked for from them. Other crops flourishing.—Bainbridge Argus.

The caterpillar appeared in the lower part of Burke county. Baptist revival in Augusta; 10 conversions; interest increasing. Augusta will soon have two fountains in the City Park. The Episcopalians have built a new school in Augusta.—Augusta Chronicle.

In Baker county the cotton crops wont be as heavy as expected—weed large, but thinly boiled. Rust damaging some—caterpillars fast appearing. Much cotton open—picking begun. P. W. Jones sent a bale to Macon. Corn made—good crops. [Macon Journal.

A writer in the Macon Journal, comes down heavily on the Central Road for being a despotic monopoly—that it is in the very act of burying the Macon and Western Railroad, and that the result of its strategy will be to make Macon a mere way-station.

Methodist revival in Rome; a number of conversions. Dr. W. A. Carswell found beautiful iron ore, eight miles from Rome, in Vann's Valley, with 65 per cent. of pure iron. Black tongue is killing cattle in the Chulio District, Floyd county. Four dead deer were found killed by it.—Rome Courier.

No rain for some time past. Crops are being seriously injured. Many low country visitors hunting health and pleasure in Gainesville. The Loud Mine in White county was sold in 1833, for $3,500, to Mr. Blake. Mr. Loud bought it soon after for $10,000, giving $11,000 more. Up to 1845, it yielded over one ton of gold, or $400,000. Green Russell, discoverer of the Colorado Mines, has charge of it now.—Air-Line Eagle.

Augusta has a ghost that nightly haunts the Augusta Machine Shops. The watchman fired at it with a prodigious revolver, but without results, save an indenture in the wall. The Constitutionalist suggests, it to be the ghost of one of the starved Freedmen's Hospital darkies, searching for the Bureau, to give its experience of the mercy of the Congressional reconstruction plan.

The Macon Journal has received a copy of the bill of injunction against the Brunswick and Albany Railroad by the Central Railroad and its dependencies. The bill alleges that the construction of B. and A. Road is a breach of faith with the complainants, that State aid to it is fraudulent and unconstitutional, that the appropriation of $15,000 per mile is $4,000 more than is necessary to build it, and the whole transaction is a fraud.

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA

Delivered at Atlanta, Tuesday, August 17.

[REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE CONSTITUTION, BY N. J. HAMMOND, SUPREME COURT REPORTER.]

John E. Jones et al., plaintiffs in error, vs. The Macon and Brunswick Railroad Company, defendants in error. Injunction, from Bibb.

BROWN, C. J.

1. An injunction, which is a harsh remedy, should not be granted until a clear prima facie case is made by the bill. The allegations must be direct and positive. A charge that they are true, "on information received from others," is insufficient.

2. It is not necessary to the adjudication of this case, for this Court to decide whether the fifth section of the acts granting the aid of the State to the Air-Line Railroad Company, when applied to any other company, is constitutional or not.

3. Said section, if constitutional, does not confer upon any citizen or tax-payer of this State any right to institute any suit or to file any bill in any Court of this State, to inquire into the conduct of the Legislature in the passage of any act or resolution on the subject of State aid, or into the conduct of the Executive in issuing the bonds of the State, as both are responsible to the people alone, and not to the Courts; or to inquire whether the company has complied with the terms of the act granting State aid, or whether the necessary subscriptions have been made, or to intermeddle in any way in the affairs of the company, further than is necessary to the investigation of the single question, whether the company has sold the bonds indorsed by the State for less than ninety cents in the dollar; and in case of a bill filed by a citizen or tax-payer, the Court should confine the investigation to that issue alone.

4. It was the duty of the Chancellor, under the resolution passed by the legislature on the 28th of January, 1869, to dissolve the injunction in this case.

Judgment affirmed.

William Dougherty, Lyon, DeGraffenreid and Irvin, for plaintiff in error.

Whittle & Gustin and W. Hope Hull for defendant in error.

Joel Kitchens et. al., plaintiffs in error, vs. Elizabeth Kitchens, defendant in error.

BROWN, C. J.

1. In a proceeding to establish a will, which is alleged to have been destroyed since the death of the testator, it is necessary to prove the execution of the will, by three subscribing witnesses, if in life, and within the jurisdiction of the Court, as in case of probate, in solemn form.

2. The contents of the will must be proved, and the presumption of revocation, by the testator, which is raised by law, rebutted by such evidence as clearly satisfies the conscience of the jury, but this may be done by the subscribing witnesses, or any other competent testimony, and, in case the testimony is in conflict, the jury, as in all other cases, are the judges of the credibility of the witnesses.

3. A new trial will not be granted in a case of this character, where there is evidence to sustain the verdict under the rules above laid down.

Judgment affirmed.

W. W. Clark, F. Jordan and A. Reese, for plaintiffs in error.

W. A. Lofton, Geo. T. Bartlett, for defendant in error.

B. F. Wilder, et. al., vs. J. H. Blount, Administrator. Bill for Direction, from Jones.

McCAY, J.

A testator provided that one-seventh of his property should, at his death, be set off to his married daughter, and the remainder be kept together by his wife, who was the executrix, for the support and education of his five minor children, mentioned by name, until they should respectively come of age, or the girls marry, in which event, the children marrying, or coming of age, should take out one-sixth, one-fifth, one-quarter, and so on, to the last; and "should either of said minors die, before coming of age, etc., his or her share to cease to exist, and become the joint and common property of those living"; Held, That by the words, "those living," in the quoted clause, he meant those living of the five minors.

Held, further, That if one of the "five" should die before twenty-one, or, if a girl before marriage, the share of the one so dying belongs to all of the "five minors" then living, and not solely to those of the five who remain minors, at the death of the one dying.

Judgment reversed.

J. Wingfield, by Thos. Alexander, for plaintiffs in error.

Harris & Hunter for defendants in error.

Ex'rs of E. H. Adams vs. Adm'r of Eliab Jones. Equity, from Macon.

WARNER, J.

A bill was filed by the Administrator of Jones, against Adams, alleging, that, in July, 1849, Jones had committed an offense against the laws of this State, which would have subjected him to punishment in the penitentiary, and being anxious to leave the State, went to the house of Adams, and while there, Adams, taking advantage of his situation, fraudulently obtained from Jones an absolute title to all of Jones property, including land and personal property, promising Jones that he would pay his debts, and after retaining the amount of one thousand and fifty dollars advanced to Jones to enable him to get out of the State, that he would pay over the balance over to Jones or his family. The bill prayed for an account and decree against Adams. The answer of the defendant denied the fraud charged, and claimed an absolute title to the property conveyed by Jones to Adams, discharged by any trust, express, or implied. It further appeared, from the record, that Jones had not been heard of after leaving the State for more than seven years, and that administration had been granted on his estate by the Ordinary of Dooly county, where he last resided, and where the land and other property was located at the time of making the title deeds therefor to Adams.

1. Held, That the obligations in complainants bill made a case of fraud, on the trial of which, parol evidence was admissable to prove the fraud. and thereby raise an implied trust in favor of Jones and his family.

2. Held, Also, that the alleged widow of the intestate (Mrs. Jones) and his son, were competent witness for the complainant on the trial of the cause under the 3798 section of the Code.

3. Held, Further, that in the discretion of the chancellor, compound interest may be charged on a final settlement with an implied trustee, who fraudulently obtains possession of the property, as well as against a trustee appointed, who rightfully obtains possession of the property, as provided by the 2562 section of the Code; the power comes within the reason of the rule prescribed for the latter.

4. Held, Also, that seven years absence of Jones, without being heard of, was presumptive evidence of his death, and authorized the Ordinary to grant letters of administration on his estate; and, although that presumption might have been rebutted by evidence on the trial, still, the letters of administration were conclusive on the trial of this case as to that part, in the absence of any evidence rebutting that presumption.

5. Held. Further, that in view of the facts contained in this record, the defendant is not protected by the Statute of Limitations nor by the equitable bar of lapse of time

6. The Court charged the jury, that "when the answer is contradictory in itself, or contradicted by other evidence, the jury are not bound to give credit to any portion of it." Held: That this charge of the Court was too broad in the latter portion of it; that it should have been left to the jury to determine what credit they would give to the answer, or to any part thereof, without any intimation from the Court; they were the exclusive judges as to the credit to be given to the answer of the defendant, in view of the facts contained and stated therein.

In my judgment, however, a new trial ought not to be granted, in this case, for this alleged error in the charge of the Court. Although, the verdict may have been somewhat too large, under the evidence, still, I should not, myself, be disposed to disturb the verdict of the jury; yet, as the majority of the Court are of the opinion the judgment should be reversed, unless the complainants shall write off from the verdict the sum of three thousand, six hundred and twenty-one dollars and sixty-one cents, leaving the verdict to stand for five thousand dollars. I concur in the judgment of the Court to that effect.

Judgment reversed upon terms.

S. Hall, B. Hill, Geo. W. Fish, for plaintiff in error.

W. H. Robinson, Phil. Cook, Jas. Jackson, L. E. Bleckley, for defendant in error.

How the Bathers Look—An Analytical Description — Bathing Dresses.

Correspondence of the Boston Post.]

Dress, after all, is the great distinguishing mark of republican aristocracy, and undress—or bathing dresses, which is the same thing—is the great leveler. The pretty girl who comes down in a pony carriage, dressed in the regulation cambric morning suit, with under-skirts, over-skirts, ruffles, sash, and the multitude of other adornments, to which I do not dare affix names, steps into her bathing house, and with the grit of her little high-heeled boots upon the sandy boards, you have the last of her the next hour. For, after a suitable time of disrobing and rehabilitation, she emerges, a chrysalis from a butterfly. You do not recognize the blonde locks under the oil-silk cap, which confines them from the assaults of the envious waves. The trim form, which seemed created to sway to the airies of Strauss' waltzes, is enshrouded in dark flannel. The thin hoops are replaced by still slimmer garments, in which you see the pantaloons, for which Miss Anthony sighs. The neat ankle is no longer there, only a huge, flapping ruffle, which overshadows the high curved in-step, and reaches almost to the concealment of the little pinched toes, which curl so daintily as they touch the wet sand. From a neighboring box comes another, similar except that her pantaloons are loose and show beneath their lower edge the round, shapely ankle. Then approaches the well formed brother, who has been driven down on the tiger's seat. A manly form, indeed, hardly more easily recognized than that of the lady, but whose appearance is an immediate proof of the skill of his tailor, by contrast. You now see the slightly stooped shoulders, the weak looking back, the meagre deltoid and biceps which were hidden under the disguise of the promenade and ball room, but now displayed by the honest surf suit of flannel. They clasp hands—and if the ladies are careful of appearances, they don't run.

In going into the surf, it is queer to see with what a gingerly gait the bathers will at first step over each roller as it foams, spent, under their feet. Then, with the water at their ankles, dip their hands and bathe their brows—danger of a rush of blood to the head, you know. Then, gathering boldness, they step, hand in hand, a little scream here, and a timorous shrink there, into the waves, until the water reaches the knee. The first plump now. A breaker comes curling and hissing at them. A hasty grasp of the nose by each of the little band; a hurried, scared stooping, with a half glance at the approaching terror, and it is over and they are left crouching on the sand. Now the fear is passed and rollers are welcomed, the only care being lest the hair should be soaked, or that some of the beautiful but nauseating flood find its way into the little mouth.

The æsthetics of bathing can not be better studied than in the dresses. The dresses may be set down as never becoming, but after what I have seen this morning I must say that ugliness as well as beauty is only a comparative term. The orthodox bathing dress I have described. It looks well upon a young woman, but a costume of that sort, neatly and tightly belted about the waist of a massive mother of three daughters is relatively ridiculous. Those ladies who require a two hundred pound balance when ascertaining their weight should adopt a modified sea toilette, or be prepared to efface the sublime impression produced by the elegance of their full-dress appearance. Yet this is to be preferred to the "loose gown" style of attire in which the more plebian matrons disport amid the waves. It is convenient for a student of anatomy, and let us hope it is pleasant to the wearers. It is offensive to the sight. I distinctly catalogued sixteen different styles of ankles—let me see that word in its most elevated sense—and general contour of form displayed by the wearers of these mockeries of clothing this forenoon. As they descend the long beach, the sportive breeze catches up the flowing garment, wafts and twists it about, spreads and contracts it, until, with a desperate clutch, the victim plunges into the edge of the waves and wets the hem. As she advances it grows worse. After the first souse the sacred gown clings to her limbs and form with the tenacity of a poor man's plaster, developing each angle and swelling, defining each depression and protuberance, until the human form, generally by no means divine, stands covered but not concealed. Then a breaker catches it with a puff of wind, and the structure of an inverted balloon is presented. Then it is washed and flirted about, and as she steps out again upon the sand, it is caught by the swift following wave and thrown in one spiteful dash under her feet.

This is the extreme of the fashion of bathing dresses. The other was shown this morning on the persons of a couple of little ladies, who complied with the letter, but hardly the spirit of the law, by chasing the breakers in a costume identical with that of Mazeppa, as performed by the late lamented Menken. It is an incontrovertable fact that they were much more attractive in appearance than their less distinguished neighbors. I noticed a reverend gentleman, who wore his spectacles into the surf, mildly remonstrating with them, and once his hand went where his coat-tail pocket might have been, and I knew he would have given them a tract, but for the absence of that receptacle.

Neither do oil-silk capes cover every head. The scrupulously careful use of these articles, but the prevailing style is to allow the long back-hair to float free and unconfined, the sport of the wind and wave and the admiration of the occupants of the carriages and benches which line the beach. It is incontestably pretty, and it seems that one needn't get her hair wet even in this way; for the hair dressers who attend the hotels and cottages have their "bathing tresses," which each morning they affix to the heads of their fair patrons for use and ornament in the bath. It is done ingeniously and effectively, and upon the return the braids which have been so much admired on the beach are handed over to the maid to be hung up to dry, and others are assumed.

OUR JOB WORK.—THE CONSTITUTION Job Office, with its new and varied material, its new presses, new type and many kinds of paper and colored inks, is prepared to do work as cheap, as good, as stylish, and as quick as any other office in the South.

We are willing to compare specimens with anybody.

The Negro Question.

We have received a pamphlet of 176 pages, entitled "Can a negro hold office in Georgia," a printed slip pasted to it with the words—"Compliments of Rufus B. Bullock."

The book contains the entire record in the case of White vs. Clement, from Chatham Superior Court, the entire arguments of counsel, opinions of the Judges, extracts and gubernatorial messages from the proceedings of the Legislature, and the letters on the subject written by the eminent lawyers of Georgia, to Gen. A. R. Wright, of Augusta, in response to his circular, calling for their opinion.

The whole was phonographically reported by Eugene Davis, the Governor's private Secretary. The book is neatly printed by the Intelligencer Job Office.

☞ Reading matter on every page.

Res Adjudicata.

Some time back, the Macon Telegraph had an article from a writer signing himself "B," who gave a precedent—the Mississippi Contested Election case of Gholson and Claiborne, in 1837, against Res Adjudicata. The Constitutionalist argued that the case was not analogous to the case of the ineligible negroes. This was right, but an unprofessional reader would hardly value the want of analogy properly.

The Augusta Chronicle has an exceedingly able communication from "E," of Athens, giving a later case directly in point, showing that Res Adjudicata did apply to the Judicial action of Legislative bodies.

In 1857, Indiana elected Graham A. Fitch, and Jesse D. Bright, U. S. Senators. A protest was sent to Congress declaring they were not legally elected. The Senate decided these gentlemen eligible, and admitted them.

In 1858, the Indiana Legislature elected Henry S. Law, and William S. McCarty, to shove out Fitch and Bright, considering the latter not eligible, and memorialized Congress to expel Fitch and Bright, and put in Law and McCarty. It was referred to the Judiciary Committee, who reported that the "Judgment of the Senate" in admitting Fitch and Bright, "is final, and precludes further enquiry into the subject."

A warm discussion ensued. Mr. Pugh, of Ohio, contended that it was a monstrous doctrine, that a decision in a contested election case could be rescinded at any time during the period for which the officer was elected. He cited the case of Mr. Trumbull, from Illinois, who he thought was illegally admitted; and that of Mr. Harlan, of Ohio, who was wrongfully ousted two years previous; yet, no one questioned that it would have been wrong to have reviewed the matter day after day. Where would it end? He also quoted the passage from Kent, that we gave to the readers of THE CONSTITUTION a few days since.

Mr. Bayard, of Delaware, a very profound lawyer, thought the judgment, admitting Fitch and Bright was wrong, but it was final; its finality was not favored on the idea that it was infallible, but that there must be an end to litigation, and he held the judgment to be irreversible, though wrong. Mr. Greene, of Missouri, took the same view. Mr. Benjamin, declared that as a principle of law, not one respectable lawyer in a hundred would not say that the Senate could not go back upon its decision.

The writer in the Telegraph, "B," quotes the opinion of Hon. James M. Mason, in the Mississippi case, and his vote in favor of Congress rescinding its action. In the Fitch and Bright case, Mr. Mason took opposite grounds, and upon being reminded of his vote in the Mississippi case, he declared that he voted wrong then, and after twenty years he said that the "House could not go back and re-enquire into what it had once settled."

The case was settled by the passage of a resolution, proposed by Mr. Pugh, affirming that the decision upon the case of Bright and Fitch, previously made, "was a final decision of all the premises then in controversy," and conclusive.

This case is undoubtedly in point and directly analogous to the case of the ineligible negroes.

The debate can be found, Appendix to Con. Globe, 2d Sess. 35th Cong., p. 128.

Grant Taking the Back Track.

Grant is exhibiting his chronic political vacillation in his conduct to Mississippi. The policy of conciliation that he favored, and for which a heavy wing of the Republican party has been battling, proved successful in Virginia. The ultra Radicals were promptly thrown overboard. The same policy has triumphed in Tennessee.

The thing has frightened the ultraists, North, who have come back upon Grant so heavily as to frighten him into a crawfish out of his conciliatory policy, and even to some backsliding on his own dear kinsman, the Dent.

The bugaboo that has been rattled about his ears has been the split in the Radical ranks. Our own Democratic press has helped the cry, by claiming the triumph of Walker and Senter, with negro suffrage, bought by amnesty, as a Democratic victory, when, in no sense of the word, has it been a Democratic victory. It was won by conceding the very thing the Democrats opposed. It was really the result of a grim necessity. The Radical party was divided, and the rebel vote was the turning weight. So the moderate Republicans went for getting it, and gave the rebels enfranchisement, if they would support them. The disfranchised were fighting for freedom, the Republicans for place.

The extreme Radicals were too fanatical to go strongly for rebel enfranchisement, and they were whipped. And now they are trying to drive Grant from his conservative Republicanism by the scarecrow that the thing is a sharp Democratic dodge, "to divide the Republican party," and scramble into power through the division thus created.

Hence, do we say our journals have been impolitic as well as untrue in claiming such victories, as Walker's and Senter's, Democratic.

They had better pass for just what they are—triumphs outside of party, growing out of necessity, and establishing no principle, but that, if one man plays friendly, and another hostile to you, that you are very apt to side with the former, when you can do nothing of and for yourself alone.

We copy an extract from the St. Louis Republican:

If it is really intended to reconcile, the administration must do right throughout, and not talk conciliation and act disfranchisement, and thereby please nobody. A reconciliation, by which is meant that Southern men should elect Northern carpet-baggers, or send to the United States Senate politicians who grind them in the dust, is no reconciliation at all. It is a phantom created in the imagination of perhaps a well-meaning man, but evidently not of a man of clear understanding.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.—The Supreme Court will adjourn in few days.

We will publish the entire decisions in pamphlet for the use of attorneys. These pamphlets will be convenient for use until the whole are published by the Reporter. The price will be 75 cents per copy. Address THE CONSTITUTION, Atlanta, Ga.

THE MARIETTA FAIR.—We have a regular correspondent at the Marietta Fair, who will give daily letters of what is done. His first failed to arrive. We are very much tempted to give his substitute. "Hans" can't put his finger in our eye with that nonsense about "Cousin." We hold the letter subject to the young lady's demand.

OUR MARIETTA LETTER.

Mistake in Mailing Letters—Disgruntled—Kennesaw House Arrivals—What Cuffee Said—The Fair.

From Our Special Correspondent.

MARIETTA, GA., August 17, 1869.

Your correspondent reached this place last night, and wrote to you shortly after arrival. At the time he wrote to a lady friend. The letters were put into the wrong envelopes, and the young lady, bless her rosy lips (!) was regaled with a ponderous disquisition on fairs, etc., and such things, instead of the melting missive which she had a right to expect, while your editorial eyes were shocked at the sight of the ravings of a "spoon," and your dignity disturbed at the very flimsy way in which the document opened. You need not publish the letter that you received, as no matters of general interest are therein discussed. The lady is a cousin of mine, hence the little terms of endearment which you will notice scattered throughout the letter.

I was considerably disordered by my short ride from Atlanta. The train was very much crowded. I was forced, during the journey, to poise myself on a square inch of velvet cushion, and not being of that peculiar conical shape which alone would render the execution of this little gymnastic feat, either practicable or pleasant, and being surrounded, all the time, by two men, one of whom did not suggest "Eau de Cologne," you can imagine my agony. But, when I had arrived at Marietta, and caught a glimpse of the bright halls and tempting supper tables of that good hotel, the Kennesaw House, I was rendered very happy, and in a few moments I had completely forgotten my fragrant friend and my extempora gymnasium on the train.

You will pardon me for recording right here and now, the unqualified delight—the exstatic gratification with which I devonred a dish of finely fixed up ham and eggs. Ham and eggs! ye delicious correlatives! ye savory soothers of stomachic cravings! ye Siamese twins of the edible world—how I love ye! (H. & E. every morning at the Kennesaw House.)

After supper, in loafing around, I found that a considerable crowd had already collected—besides the great number that came up with us, a good many had arrived in the afternoon on "The Pea-nut," (vulgarly called "The Goober.") The Kennesaw House was almost full before the Fair opened, by visitors from the lower country. Among others, I notice Mrs. Schley, widow of the Ex-Governor, Rev. Mr. Irving and family, of Macon; Judge J. T. Rothwell, of Augusta; Mrs. Cohen, the charming daughter of Gen. Wright, of Augusta; Mrs. J. W. Ross, of Macon.

I was unable to find out anything at all concerning the schedule of the pleasures for the week. Everybody with the smallest spark of intelligence, is busy, and have no time to talk. After peregrinating in frantic eagerness, the whole city, I gained only one item of information, viz.: the canine which resides in the hoop and barrel factory is of a very rapacious nature. I had a short and very rapid conversation with this horrid creature last night. Upon returning to my room, I beguiled my male chambermaid into a conversation, and determined to extort from him some facts concerning the mighty Fair which was to agitate this city for the coming week. The only item I could glean from him was—"Dey is goin to have a animal show dis week; fur dey bring a leopard and a wild man and a parrott on de train to-day." That your correspondent will look eagerly for this incongruous menagerie on to-morrow, is an established fact.

The Fair is given for the purpose of raising funds for the establishment of a liberal school system in Marietta. It is endorsed by many leading men of the leading cities of the State. From your city, we have the names of Messrs. Rice, Jones, Brown, Hulbert, Brantly, etc. Among the donations, I notice very handsome ones from Messrs. Kiser, Chamberlin, and others, that I will mention hereafter.

There will be a good many dances, parties, concerts, exhibitions, etc., during the week, and, if I am correctly informed, one well assorted menagerie. A lively time is anticipated, especially at the mensagerie. More anon. KING HANS.

P. S. By the morning passenger train, I notice a great many Atlanta people. I suppose a crowd will come up on the Peanut, or Goober. Even while I write, the Starlight Band of your city is discoursing sweet music to an admiring crowd of Marietta people. K. H.

Ashes for Wheat.

A correspondent of the Rural Gentlemen, writes very strongly in favor of ashes to prevent rust in wheat—supports his arguments by facts adduced from his own experience. He has in numerous instances found them to possess a marked value, exerting a three-fold power for good. We extract from the article the following paragraphs:

1. The ashes operate as a manure upon the wheat, even in the limited quantity of eight bushels per acre.

2. They push the wheat forward several days, and in time to escape the hot, sultry days, which often prevail about the time of the "heading out" of the wheat, and

3. They strengthen the stem, giving it substance and solidity.

I may here add one or two more properties to the ashes; they afford just that kind of pabulum or food which is best for the development and perfection of the grain, and will, in my opinion, also prevent the ravages of the fly in wheat. I would here venture the remark, that whoever tries this experiment will thereafter spread his wood ashes upon his wheat as above indicated; and in so doing he will effectually guard against and prevent the rust in his wheat.

☞ The Rev. Dr. Osgood gives his impressions of Spurgeon in this language: "He does a large and good business in souls. His gifts are as much of the bowels as of the brains, and he seems to be full of sympathetic juices, in which his great audience float like a great navy in an ample harbor,"

MOBILE, ALA., August 17.—The weather has been very dry and hot, but favorable for pulling fodder, until this morning, when it commenced raining, and still continues. Many planters have finished pulling fodder, and the corn crop is made. The weather has had no effect, with exception of few localities. The corn crop is bad, and taking the average yield of the country tributary to Mobile, will not be enough to last through till next crop season. Cotton accounts are generally very favorable, with promise of ingreased yield over last year.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., August 17.—The weather, for the past week, has been very warm and dry. The cotton is suffering from rust. The caterpillar is reported in many plantations. Cruel Treatment of a Fallen Nun—Successful Concealment of Her Tortures from the Civil and Ecclesiastical Authorities.

The case of the imprisoned nun at Cracow, which led to the recent riots there, forms the subject of an article in the Vienna Presse, from which we learn that the name of the prisoner is Barbara Ubryk, and that the statement that she has been confined for twenty-one years is correct. The civil authorities were informed of the fact by an anonymous letter in a woman's handwriting and the bishop of the diocese was communicated with. A judge visited the convent and found in a cell, seven paces long by six paces wide, an entirely naked, half-insane woman, who, at the unaccustomed view of light, the outer world and human beings, folded her hands and pitifully implored: "I am hungry, have pity on me; give me meat; and I shall be obedient." This hole, for it could hardly be called a chamber, besides containing all kinds of dirt and filth, and a dish with rotten potatoes, was deficient of the slightest decent accommodation. There was nothing—no stove, no bed, no table, no chair—it was neither warmed by a fire nor by the rays of the sun. The judge instantly ordered the nun to be clothed, and went himself for Bishop Galecki. The bishop was deeply moved, and, turning to the assembled nuns, he vehemently reproached them for their inhumanity. "Is this," he said, "what you call love of your neighbor? Furies, not women, that you are, is it thus that you propose to enter the kingdom of heaven?" The nuns ventured to excuse their conduct, but the bishop would not hear them. "Silence, you wretches!" he exclaimed; "away, out of my sight, you who have disgraced religion." The father confessor, Piantkiewicz, an old priest, who was present, dared to observe that the ecclesiastical authorities were aware of this scandal; whereupon the bishop and prelate, Spital, denied the statement made by the father confessor, and also the superioress, who is descended from an old, honorable Polish noble family. The bishop ordered the nun Barbara Ubryk to be brought into a clean cell, and there to be dressed and nursed, which the lady superior obeyed very reluctantly. When the unhappy nun was led away, she asked anxiously whether she would be brought back to her grave, and when asked way she had been imprisioned, she answered: "I have broken the vow of chastity, but," pointing with a fearfully wild gesture, and in great excitement to the sisters, "they are not angels." The lady superior declared that Barbara Ubryk was kept in close confinement since 1848 by order of the physician, because of her unsound mind. But this physician died in 1848, and the present physician, Dr. Babrzynaki, who has been practicing in the convent for the last seven years, has never seen Barbara Ubryk. On account of the importance of the case, the Attorney General has taken the matter in hand. The exasperation of the people knew no bounds. It is stated that the bishop intends to dissolve the convent.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A LADY'S NOTE.—Dear Mr. Punch: I read in the papers, that among the bills now being prepared for the Prussian Landtag, there is said to be one for introducing civil marriage.

That's easy enough, but will somebody prepare a bill for introducing civility after marriage? That is what I should like to see—and hear. How would you like, if you were a lady, to have to ring the bell yourself, and be scowled at if you spoke when my lord is reading the paper, and you answer the parlor-maid when he happens to be relating an anecdote, O law! Write upon this subject, and oblige,

Yours, affectionately,
A SNUBBED WIFE.

I LOVE THE WOODS.

For The Constitution.]

I love the woods, the wild, wild woods,
When beautiful flowers bloom,
Where the evening wind breaths of rest,
Far beyond the dreary tomb.

I love the woods; their quiet shade
Soothes my sad and troubled heart,
And, oh, I long for the rest above,
Where Christians never part.

I love the woods when sunset's glow
Hath clothed them in golden sheen;
When sunbeams play 'neath the trees,
Oh, then 'tis a lovely scene.

I love the woods, each shaded path,
And each quiet little nook,
Where, none but nature for my friend,
I enjoy a pleasant book.

I love the woods, beautiful woods,
Where silvery streamlets flow;
Where wild birds sing from morn till night,
And the squirrels come and go.

I love the woods, where violets bloom,
And where gentle zephyrs play;
Where the mourning dove builds her nest,
And the night owl sleeps all day.

I love the woods, the pleasant woods,
Oh, I love each sunny glade;
'Tis there I'd pass my life away,
And 'tis there I would be laid.

I love the woods, the wild, wild woods,
And the sighing cypress shade;
'Tis there I would be laid to rest—
Dig there, loved friends my grave.

I love the woods at twilight fall,
When the flowers go to sleep;
When the earth is hushed in silence,
And the bright stars play bo-peep.

I love the woods, the dear old woods,
Where the wild winds laugh and sigh;
Oh, there, my friends, lay me to rest
When I close my dying eye.

GORDON CO., GA., June 28th, 1869.

Messrs. ADAIR & BRO., Atlanta, Ga.:

GENTLEMEN—We received yours a few days since, requesting a statement of the merits of the Gullett Gin purchased of you last year. I have to say of this Gin, that it is decidedly the best Gin of which we have any knowledge. The workmanship of the machine is very superior, every part of it being made with great care, and the boxes and shafts being set in a cast iron frame, admitting of no springing or working. It runs with a smoothness and velocity seldom attained in such machines. The improvements of this Gin are: 1st, it takes the dirt and trash out of the cotton. 2d, it, by means of the steel brush wheel, combs out the lint, and renders the fibre much longer than the ordinary gin, or, at least, makes the cotton show a much longer fibre. These two improvements gives cotton ginned on this Gin, we think, fully the advantage of 1½ cents per pound in value over cotton of the same kind ginned on the ordinary gin; and when the cotton is in the seed is very trashy and dirty, or contains a great many hard locks, it may add more to the market value of the lint. We could perceive no difference between the draught of this Gin and the old one we replaced by it, of the same number of saws. The Gullett Gin certainly deserves the attention of planters.

Very respectfully,
J. C. & R. GARLINGTON.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA :::: AUGUST 18.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of a call yesterday afternoon, from Col. A. W. Reese, late editor of the Macon Journal and Messenger. He has been recreating in Northern Georgia.

BEHIND THE TIMES.—We saw a copy of Mitchell's School Geography a few days since, published in 1869, that purported to give a correct description of Georgia. It gives Macon, Augusta, Savannah and Columbus as the principal cities, and says not a word about Atlanta. It is clearly then ten or fifteen years behind the times. It is just a reprint of an old edition. Can not our schools be supplied with more accurate text books concerning the South, her cities, rivers, internal improvements, scenery, and resources?

JUDGE W. W. CLAYTON.—The Rome Courier justly congratulates the citizens of Rome, that Judge W. W. Clayton, of this city, had formed a co-partnership with Capt. A. Griffith, of that city, and about the first of September, would open a banking, brokerage, warehouse and general commission business. Perhaps no man in Georgia, who has the complete confidence and respect of so wide a circle of acquaintances as Judge Clayton. Rome has made a valuable acquisition to her citizens, and Atlanta lost a worthy and honored one.

Supreme Court.—Morning Session. Tuesday, August 17.—The Court delivered opinions in some of the causes argued last week.

Argument was resumed in No. 3, Rome Circuit, Smith adm'r vs. Ann E. Smith. Dower, from Floyd.

Mr. Branham opened for defendant in error. He was followed by Mr. Broyles on the same side. Pending whose argument, Court adjourned till 3 o'clock, P. M.

EVENING SESSION—Tuesday, August 17.—Argument was resumed and concluded in No. 3, Smith, adm'r, et. al., vs. Smith. Dower, from Floyd.

No. 4 was argued. It is Sam'l T. Payne vs. Mary H. Payne. Habeas corpus, from Floyd.

Underwood & Rowell, for plaintiff in error.

Alexander & Wright, for defendant in error.

The Court then called No. 2, which had been put to the heel of this Circuit. It is Jane W. Childers, admr'x, vs. Geo. W. West, Trustee, et. al. Equity, from Polk.

Smith & Branham, Underwood & Rowell, for plaintiff in error.

Alexander & Wright, for defendant in error.

Pending the reading of the record, by Mr. Branham, Court adjourned till 10 o'clock, A. M., to-morrow.

THE BOSTOCK EXAMINATION—Second Day's Proceedings.—After argument had, on the evening of the first day, the Court ruled out for the present, the dying declarations of the deceased.

The following is the

DYING DECLARATIONS OF MALONEY.

Made before Justice Thomas Spencer, in presence of W. H. Joyner, Ab. Grambling, M. Murphy, L. H. Orme, M. D., and W. Wilson. Maloney replied to questions propounded by Justice Spencer.

Who killed you? "His name is Bostock."

Was it without provocation? "It was without provocation."

Who fired the first shot? "Bostock fired the first shot. He held on to my hand while he pointed the pistol at me and said he would blow my brains out."

Do you know me? "Yes, I know you, Mr. Spencer.

Were any threats made before? "No threats were made before the difficulty; some time before, Bostock was talking about my inability about an engine. He promised to meet me in the Round House. He went up town—he went to borrow a pistol to settle an account with me. I met him as I was going up to the United States Hotel. He asked me—said if I would walk back with him and see the parties, we could settle the matter. Don't know where he got the pistol. He tried to borrow one from Mr. Shivers. There were only us two present that I recollect, till the crowd came up. I would not have fired unless he had fired first. There was no cause of quarrel before. Never spoke to him about this matter until the day before he shot me.

Dr. Orme examined by prosecution in rebuttal.

Deceased died next day, after being shot. Told him next morning, that his wife had been telegraphed for. His mental faculties were not deranged. Wounds in the bowels are usually fatal. There were no indications, at any time, to give him or his physician any hope of recovery. From the peculiar dryness of the skin, had hope of a reaction, but was disappointed. The declarations were taken about twenty minutes before his death. He was almost pulseless at the time, and labored under physical disability.

John H. Flynn testified that he was present with Maloney on the day of his death. About one hour previous to taking his dying declarations, the Sacrament of Extreme Unction was administered to Maloney, by Rev. Father O'Reilly. Deceased was considered a Catholic. This Sacrament is only administered in case of extreme danger of death. Was present when the Sacrament was administered. This is a separate ceremonial from the Confession, and follows it.

Thomas Shivers, recalled by State.

Deceased told me after he was wounded, that he was wounded; that he couldn't live; that he could not breathe easy. Dr. Orme was not present at that time. He gave me his watch.

Prosecution now offered in evidence the dying declarations of Maloney. The declarations were taken down in short hand, by Justice Spencer, and copied.

Justice Spencer testified that Maloney made dying declarations before him. The copy made from notes, was as correct as he could possibly write it. There might possibly be a clerical error, but the substance was correct. I considered Maloney very near death at the time. I asked the first question abruptly to arouse his attention, because I was not fully satisfied as to his rationality. He was breathing more like panting. He moved his head and seemed to be collecting his faculties, and saw abstractedly. "Oh, why do I forget." He immediately answered his name is Bostock."

Deceased started to say something about what Bostock said of his inability about an engine and stopped short before completing the sentence, "the defendant went to." May not have put down every word he did say, because he spoke with great effort, and hurriedly. He also stopped short in his narrative, "I met him as I was going up to the United States Hotel. He asked me"—The declarations were read over to deceased, and assented to by him as correct.

Declaration received, subject to future discussion as to admissibility or effect.

State announced closed for the present.

TESTIMONY FOR DEFENSE.

Henry Favors, (colored,) said he witnessed the difficulty on the evening of the 12th, between two men, between the tracks of the Macon and Western Railroad. One was dressed in dark clothes and one in light clothes. Witness, at the time, was on the third floor of Granite Block, room 15, sitting in the window nearest the bridge. The gentleman in light clothes threw up his hand; the parties were about five feet apart; the gentleman with dark clothes soon afterward fired, and fired first; gentleman in light clothes gave way like he was shot, and then fired. Man in dark clothes fired twice before man in light clothes returned it. There were six or seven shots fired very rapidly. They were about fifteen feet apart when man in light clothes fired. Had been in room about two minutes. Thought there would be a collision, because the man in dark clothes was shaking his head, and the man in light clothes stepping back and motioning his hand at the other. It was three minutes after this before the first firing. Man in dark clothes fired second time; soon after man in light clothes seemed to be giving back. When first shot was fired, the parties were about ten feet apart; when second, about fifteen feet. Maloney stood still all the time. When Bostock fired he had gone back about five feet. The shots were so fast after this, witness could not tell who fired the first. Called Allen's attention to it before the firing commenced. No cars were between witness and the parties; there were cars on each side of them; firing on the side nearest Granite Block extended further toward Forsyth street than the other.

They had got in as far as end of the left hand string of cars—half a car's length further than end of right hand string. Maloney stopped near the end of the left hand string. Bostock went about ten feet when Maloney fired. Bostock retreated and Maloney fired the second time. When the shaking of the head and motion of the hands occurred, they had not got to the cars—they were between eight or ten feet from them.

Capt. John W. Barney testified that when about 150 yards from Forsyth street crossing, on the 12th, he heard loud talking of parties between freight cars. Stooped and looked under cars. Saw two men from knees down, close together. Walked rapidly towards Forsyth street end of cars. Before witness got there, firing commenced. Witness then ran to end of cars. Firing still going on. As I looked round the cars, a bullet whizzed by, and another struck by me. Adcock and witness together, went up to the parties who were going from each other. Bostock had to walk farther than Maloney. Each sat down on a cross tie on the same track—at opposite ends of a freight car. Passed by Maloney and saw pistol lying on ground. Was about a quarter of a minute from where I commenced to run, until I reached Bostock. Witness asked Bostock who shot first. Defendant replied that Maloney fired twice before he returned the fire, and that he proposed to settle the difficulty or fight it with his fists, and while he said this, Maloney drew his pistol and told him to choose his ground.

Dr. J. F. Alexander testified that he was the attending physician of Samuel Bostock. Bostock was wounded in the calf of the right leg. But little hemorrhage. From the character of the wound and range of ball, defendant could not have been facing deceased. Would suppose that they must have been at least ten or fifteen paces distant from each other. Think another ball struck the inside of his left foot—indented the boot—didn't break the leather.

John A. Adcock testified that he had been up town, and when coming back, down the State Road track, met Maloney and Shivers under, or near, the bridge. Witness corroborated in the main, the evidence of Shivers. Bostock told witness he and Maloney had some words the day previous, (11th) at Calhoun. Told Mr. Morris that Bostock informed me that he and Maloney had words at Calhoun on the 11th, and not having time to have an understanding, as the trains were about to start, had agreed to have an understanding that evening (12th), when Maloney came in. Bostock said, Maloney, at Calhoun, looked very angry at him, and had his hand in his pocket, as he supposed on his pistol. Bostock said to Maloney, they could settle it without pistols. Witness advised defendant that he and deceased might adjust their quarrel satisfactorily, as both claimed to be Free Masons. Defendant said he thought so, too. Bostock told witness this between 5 and 12 o'clock, on the morning of the 12th. When I got to Bostock, he looked up, laughing, and said, "he shot me without a word."

Jefferson Kane testified, that on Wednesday he was up the State Road with his engine, "Atlanta," at Calhoun. Saw Maloney and Bostock there. Bostock was coming down to Atlanta—Maloney going up to Chattanooga. Can't tell the conversation that took place between them. Two trains passed each other there. Maloney, when he got opposite the "Atlanta," jumped off his engine, and came up to the "Atlanta," and asked if Bostock was on it. Witness replied, he is. Maloney then said, "tell him to come down and see me." Witness told defendant. Maloney turned round to the front of the "Atlanta." Bostock came down and talked with him. Did not know what the conversation was about.

After argument to rule out the evidence of Mr. Kane, the Court decided to receive it, and adjourned until 8 o'clock this morning.

We give as brief and concise a statement of the evidence as we possibly can, without expressing any opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused. Although we made the statement that Mr Maloney was a Democrat, there are those who aver that he was a Radical. Whatever the politics of either of the parties, however, it has nothing to do with the preliminary examination. We would no more do injustice to one than the other.

FRESH TESTIMONIALS!

DARBY'S PROPHPLACTIC FLUID!

THE ASTONISHING

Family Medicine!!!

Saved from Death---Read!

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 28, 1869.

MESSRS. J. DARBY & CO., 161 William street, New York—Gents: Yours, of the 23d, is before me and has attention. It gives me pleasure to say, that my belief is, that your "Fluid," under the supervision of a kind Providence, saved the life of my youngest child, some six years ago. The child being wasted to a skeleton, by the effects of teething, and an affection of the bowels therewith. I had never seen any one reduced so low to recover.

"Physic" had been tried in vain, until the Physicians stated it was useless. A friend recommended your "Fluid," or ozone, which he stated was one of the component parts of it. I did so, and the effect was like magic, plainly discernable in one hour, in its good effects, producing quiet and sleep almost at once, where irritation and sleepless restlessness had previously possessed the child to nearly entire exhaustion.

I at first administered it in a small way, 2 and 3 drops in a spoonful of water, and increased it to 6 and 10 drops. It completely checked the bowels, and had the happiest effect, the child rapidly recovering.

I have tried your "Fluid," on animals, with the same effect; both horses and cows, mingling more or less in water, and letting them drink.

I have no hesitation in saying, I believe it a specific for Chronic Diarrhœa, or any violent affection of the bowels.

I would not be without it in my family, under any consideration.

Yours, truly, WILLIAM FOWLER.

Mr. Fowler is a member of the celebrated Banking House of Fowler & Somerville, Montgomery, Alabama.

AND AGAIN!

Read the following letter from Mr. Frank Saunders, a well-known citizen, and brother-in-law of the beloved Bishop Paine, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South:

189 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, July 29, 1869.

MESSRS. J. DARBY & CO., 161 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK—Gents: About the 10th of June last, one of my children was taken with Scarlet Fever, in its most malignant form, and as soon as I could I procured your valuable disinfectant, "Darby's Prophylactic Fluid." Although it was several days after the appearance of the disease before I began using the Fluid, still, by a free use of it, the disease was not only confined to the one case, but the malignity of that case somewhat mitigated.

During the use of the Fluid, as a disinfectant, in my family it was also, tried in a case of headache, and one of toothache, the results in each case being instantaneous relief. It was afterwards tried in a case of Erysipelas, with almost equal success.

It is due to the merits of this compound, also, to state, that the case of Erysipelas in question, being located in the feet, the Fluid, in its application, was brought in frequent contact with a troublesome corn, on one of the feet, to the utter discomfiture of said corn; for, upon subsequent examination, it had disappeared, and though it was sought for diligently, it could not be found.

I hand you this, hoping it may be the means of inducing others of earth's poor sufferers, to test for themselves, as I did, the great merits of this great remedy.

Very respectfully, yours,
FRANK SAUNDERS.

Never was a medicine so universally esteemed and extolled. It never fails. It may be depended on.

L. H. BRADFIELD'S COLUMN.

DR. J. BRADFIELD'S

FEMALE REGULATOR,

Woman's Best Friend

THIS valuable Medicine is prepared for WOMEN exclusively, and to be used by WOMEN only. It is adapted especially to those cases where the WOMB is disordered, and will cure any irregularity in the "menses," except in such cases as require a surgical operation. As these last are very rare, the FEMALE REGULATOR is of almost universal application. In a sudden check of the "monthly courses" from COLD, trouble of mind or like cause, it acts like a charm, by RESTORING THE DISCHARGE IN EVERY INSTANCE, thus relieving the fever, headache, pain in the small of the back and "lower stomach," flushes of heat about the face, chilly sensations, burning of the eyelids and general restlessness. Taken in time, all these symptoms pass away immediately, without injury to the constitution. Frequently, however, the proper remedy is not applied in time, the disease becomes chronic, and the foundation laid for numberless evils to the constitution of the woman. The next "turn" comes around and there is no "show," or perhaps the "whites" will appear. There will be some uneasiness about the womb, but very little or none of the natural fluid escaping. The complexion becomes sallow, bowels, swollen, a sort of greenish caste about the face, constant dull aching pains in the head, weight in the lower stomach and back, with or without whites, palpitations of the heart, pallor, exhaustion, indigestion, weariness, languor, aching across the loins, loss of appetite, pain in left breast, tightness across the chest, cough and giddiness. If still allowed to go on, "green sickness" will be fully developed—the headache becomes severe, with loss of memory, diminishing sensibility, SICK STOMACH, dyspepsia, no relish for food, loss of flesh, increased fluttering of the heart, SWELLING OF THE FEET, legs and body and occasional spitting of blood. The slightest effort causes HURRIED BREATHING, almost SUFFOCATION. The skin is flabby and a "doughy feel." This is a sad picture, but it is the condition of thousands of women, between the ages of 15 and 45, who are brought to the verge of the grave by ignorance or neglect to take the proper remedy. To all who are afflicted with any of the symptoms above mentioned, in connection with an irregularity of the "monthly sickness," we earnestly say TAKE DR. J. BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR. A few ounces taken, you will at once experience its benefits, and with a little patience you will be fully restored to health.

This remedy has been extensively used for upwards of twenty years by many of the most experienced and successful Physicians of Georgia.

We repeat, that Dr. J. BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR is prepared for WOMEN and to be used by Women only.

A trial is all we ask.

ATLANTA, GA., December 29th, 1868.

DR. J. BRADFIELD—Dear Sir: I take pleasure in stating that some time previous to the late war, I used, with the utmost success, on a servant girl, your FEMALE REGULATOR, prepared then at Bradfield's Drug Store, West Point, Ga. She had been suffering severely from suppressed menstruation, and this Medicine soon restored her to health. She is, to-day, living in Atlanta, sound and well.

I will state, further, that I know of its being used, with equal success, on a servant girl of my brother-in law, Professor Rutherford, of Athens, Ga. This woman had, I think, been diseased for six years. She was a house servant, and seemed cured, up to the time of "freedom." I do not hesitate to indorse your preparation for the purposes for which you recommend it.

Yours truly, JNO. C. WHITNER.

STATE OF GEORGIA, TROUP COUNTY.

This is to certify that I have examined the recipe of Dr. Joseph Bradfield, of this county, and, as a medical man, pronounce it to be a commendation of Medicines of great merit in the treatment of all the diseases of females for which he recommends it. WM. P. BEASLEY, M. D.

This December 21st, 1868.

DR. J. BRADFIELD—Dear Sir: I have much pleasure in saying I have witnessed the most decided and happy effects of your Female Regulator in this neighborhood. WM. H. FINCHER.

MOUNTVILLE, 1868.

Dr. J. BRADFIELD—Dear Sir: I have repeatedly used, in my family, your Female Regulator, and have, in every case, met with complete success. G. L. DAVIS.

Maddox are laboring there for the good of human souls. Indications point to a general revival throughout the State, among all denominations.

TEMPERANCE.—We are gratified to learn that a Washingtonian Society has been organized in Dalton, and that the leading citizens are taking active part in it. This is moving in the right direction, and we trust that there will be a mass meeting of all the temperance organizations in Atlanta, on the second Wednesday in October next. Let there be a grand rally, and all counsel together as to the best means to conquer the foe. Let temperance men use the powerful weapons of moral suasion, inscribing upon their banners the motto, "undying hostility to the drinking usuages of society—unbounded sympathy for its victims." No use for abuse of the poor drunkard, or even the dram-seller. Let argument alone be the mode of warfare.

JUGGERNAUT.

The Great Heathen Festival—The Curiosities of Idolatry.

About this time of the year, tens of thousands of pilgrims are making their way from all parts of India, to the shrine of the god which has the power, as they believe, to obliterate the transgressions of all who make their offerings to him. Of all who Juggernaut, the "lord" in person, been worshipped by of the world," has Pooree, in the sacred town of ing about the southern part of Orissa, lycutta, four hundred miles from Calpilgrims seven hundred years past, and the constantly increased in numbers until the year of fatal famine, when the whole country was strewn with the dead. Five years or so ago the attention of the English public was called to a celebration in honor of Juggernaut, within a few miles of Calcutta, at which several natives fell or threw themselves beneath the car and were crushed to death. Of old, the great festivals were never deemed complete unless the triumphant path of the god had been stained with the blood of his worshippers. But the priests dare not encourage that custom now. If a devotee flings himself down before the idol, the Brahmins cry out that it was an accident. The idolatry, however, still costs hundreds of lives every year. The weak and sickly perish by the wayside, and a cholera epidemic usually breaks out at Pooree when the city is overcrowded with pilgrims. The poor creatures are huddled together in a way which seems almost incredible to the European, The temple of Juggernauth stands in a large enclosure in the centre of Pooree. There is a Grecian column of black basalt in front of the principal gate, brought from Kanarok. The god lives in a large tower, and about 640 persons are employed to minister to his supposed necessities. There is an attendant who puts the idol to bed every night, another who wakes him, a third whose office it is to put water and a toothpick comfortably within his reach, a fourth to paint his eyes for him every morning, as if he were a faded beauty, several others to cook and give him his food, one hundred and twenty dancing girls to amuse him in his heavy moments, and 3,000 priests to worship him—and plunder the pilgrims. All this goes on year after year, while the pilgrims throng every road which leads to the shrine.

Over 6,000 acres of land are to be sold in Morgan county, the first Tuesday of October.—Madison Farm Journal.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR Medicine for Dyspepsia, Headache Jaundice, Costiveness, Camp Dysentery, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhœa, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Fever, Nervousness, hills, Diseases of the Skin, Impurity of the Blood Melancholy or Depression of Spirits.

Most of the ailments here enumerated have their origin in a diseased liver, which is the most prevalent affection in this country, and as in many cases the patient is not within the reach of a physician, it requires that some remedy should be provided that would not in the least impair the constitution, and yet be active and safe. That such is the character of the SIMMONS REGULATOR there can be no doubt, which the testimony of hundreds will establish.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED

LIVER. Pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade is mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred when few of them existed, yet examination of the body after death has shown the Liver to have been extensively deranged.

It should be used by all persons, old and young, whenever any of the foregoing symptoms appear. it is a purely vegetable compound, is not injurious to the most delicate constitutions, and will keep the liver in healthy action if used properly.

Persons living in unhealthy localities may avoid all bilious attacks by taking a dose occasionally to keep the liver in healthy action.

Regulator For children complaining of colic, headache, or sick stomach a teaspoonful or more will give relief. Children, as well as adults, eat sometimes too much supper, or eat something which does not digest well, producing sour stomach, heart-burn, or restlessness; a good dose will give relief. This applies to persons of all ages.

Many persons, from eating too much, are restless at night, or in day time fidgety, wool-gathering, can't understand what they read, can't keep their thoughts on any one subject so as to reason well, or become fretful. One or two tablespoonful will give relief.

Jaundice.—Take enough Regulator after eating each meal to produce one full action from the bowels every day.

Pregnant ladies will find sure relief from their headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, etc., etc.

DR. HUNTER.

CONTINUES to treat all private diseases, Syphilis in all its forms, Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Orchitis, and all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury [illegible] boils, [illegible] pustules, [illegible] ulcerations, [illegible] blotches, [illegible] eruptions, aversion to society, [illegible] dread of future evils, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally prostration of the vital powers, can be fully restored to health. Persons afflicted with this, or any other delicate, intricate, or long standing constitutional complaint, should give the Doctor a trial. He never fails.

The Doctor publishes a medical circular that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at his office, or by mail for one stamp. It gives a clear delineation of all the diseases and conditions resulting from the infringement of the moral laws, excesses, indulgences, exposures, and imprudences in married or single life. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others, daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own Laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlet at office free or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. "THE UTLEY COTTON PRESS."

A new invention of power whereby all friction is overcome. The simplicity, economy and durability of this Press astonishes all who see it, and the more so, that a power so simple should so long have been unappropriated. The strain is wholly upon two (2) Iron Bars 1¼ inches square, operating on these bars as if two men were pulling at each end in contrary direction, which will sustain a strain of 190,000 pounds each. With this Press two men can do all the packing or pressing of a 500 pound bale inside of eight minutes, and if need be one man can operate, only requiring more time. This Press will not occupy more space than a Piano, and can be placed under the Gin and receive the Cotton direct from the Gin, thus doing away with Lint Rooms, and can be readily taken down and transported as it is simple and light. We can supply these Presses cheaper than any yet offered. Will send circulars to any desiring, and would advise all wanting Presses to withhold buying until they examine this. We will, at an early day, have one on exhibition in Atlanta, when it can be seen.

R. P. GLENN, Agent,

R. P. GLENN, ESQ.—Dear Sir: I am so much pleased with the style, make and operation of the Utley Cotton Press, that I have concluded to order one of them from you for my plantation on the Mississippi River.

I do this, notwithstanding I have on my place a large and superior 10 inch Iron Screw Press, which cost upwards of $300 before the war. Believing that the saving of time and space, to say nothing of its superior baling qualities, and by reason of its great power, will more than repay its cost over the one now in use. I do not hesitate to recommend this Press to all who may require one.

Very Respectfully, A. J. HOLMES.
